

Your Capital Projects and Turnarounds should not be tangled up in contract legal matters with your Suppliers or Service Contractors

A Master Service Agreement can provide a fundamental contract outlining the scope of the relationship between two parties, including terms and conditions for current and future activities and responsibilities

Master Service Agreements (MSA) are best for long-term relationships that need the space and security to grow and evolve. The flexibility afforded by an MSA can head off disputes and allow both parties to maintain their relationship even as circumstances change while also saving them time and money.

With an MSA, additional contracts do not need to be renegotiated, and the basics of the initial agreement is included in all future contracts.

By proactively laying legal groundwork for the future of a relationship, the MSA enables each party involved to move fast and respond to a changing business climate.
